Toyota Recalls Certain MY2020-2022 Toyota Supra Models

September 26, 2025

PLANO, Texas (Sept. 26, 2025) — Toyota is conducting a safety recall involving certain MY2020-2022 Supra vehicles. Approximately 1,500 vehicles are involved in this recall in the U.S.

According to BMW, water can enter a part of the engine starter in affected 4-cylinder Supra vehicles and could lead to corrosion that can cause a short circuit. In an extreme case, this could increase the risk of vehicle fire during vehicle operation or where the vehicle is parked and the ignition is off.

For all involved vehicles, Toyota dealers will replace the starter with an improved one at no cost to customers. Owners are advised to park their vehicles outside and away from structures until the recall remedy is complete. Owners of involved vehicles will be notified by late-November 2025.

Information about automotive recalls, including but not limited to the list of involved vehicles, is current as of today's filing date and is subject to change thereafter.
