The 2027 Toyota RAV4 adds two notable updates for the new model year: a revised suspension for the RAV4 PHEV Woodland grade, pushing ground clearance up to 9.1-inches, and the addition of a NACS port on all PHEV grades. PHEV models are available in SE, XSE, Woodland, and GR SPORT grades. The SE and XSE grades take RAV4's core design and add sporty accents, like more dark wheels and available two-tone paint. The Woodland model has rugged details, like all-terrain tires, roof rails, and a tow-hitch receiver. The GR SPORT has a unique matrix grille with functional vents, widened fender flares, and a rear spoiler for an aggressive look. All RAV4 models have the latest Toyota Audio Multimedia system and Toyota Safety Sense active safety suite, standard.
