Naoki Kojima is treasurer for Toyota Motor North America (TMNA). In his role, he is responsible for forecasting, investing and maintaining financial relationships for short- and long-term organization planning. He also maintains a system of policies and procedures that impose an adequate level of control over treasury activities.

Prior to this role, Kojima served as the executive vice president and treasurer of Toyota Motor Asia Pacific (TMAP) Engineering and Manufacturing Co, Ltd. In this role, he oversaw regional profit management, regional cost and profit planning, and the regional treasury function.

Since joining Toyota in 1982, Kojima has held roles in planning and accounting, such as vice president and treasurer of New United Motor Manufacturing, Inc. (NUMMI), and general manager of the Accounting and Finance divisions.

Kojima has a degree in economics from Osaka University, a national university located in Osaka, Japan.
