1. What is Toyota 100 Cars for Good?

Toyota's 100 Cars for Good program is a Facebook-enabled philanthropy initiative whereby Toyota will give 100 cars in 100 days to 100 deserving charitable organizations. The 100 Cars for Good program is the first Toyota initiative that engages the public to determine how corporate philanthropic donations will be awarded. 100 Cars for Good was introduced in 2011, and Toyota has brought the program back in 2012 due to the success and popularity in its inaugural year.

2. Why is Toyota giving cars to charity?

Toyota believes that motor vehicles, and the mobility they provide, can also be vehicles for change to contribute to the betterment of society. They can be particularly important in enhancing the good works of charitable organizations in local communities, fulfilling their transportation needs to help extend the reach and efficiency of their good works. Toyota also seeks to highlight the good works provided by charitable organizations, which provide much-needed services to our local communities.

3. How will winners be determined?

Daily winners will be determined by popular vote on a dedicated Facebook application. Each day, five charities will have the opportunity to win. The organization receiving the most votes at the end of the day will receive a car. The four remaining organizations will each receive $1,000 contribution.

4. How and when do organizations apply to participate?

Organizations can apply by submitting an application on the Toyota 100 Cars for Good Facebook page. Applications will be accepted starting March 12, 2012 for two weeks or until 5,000 applications have been received.

5. How will the 500 finalists be selected?

Finalists will be selected by an independent, third-party panel of experts in the areas of philanthropy and corporate social responsibility.

6. What criteria will the panel use in selecting the 500 finalists?

Consideration will be given to the applicants' need, potential impact of vehicle use, as well as an attempt to have organizations that represent the geographic diversity, diversity of populations served, and diversity of organizations' missions.

7. Can the general public nominate a charity for participation?

The general public cannot directly nominate a charity for consideration. However, they are able to alert their charity about the program, and the organization could then apply directly by submitting a form on the Toyota Facebook page.

8. When will the winners receive their vehicles?

Delivery of vehicles will vary, and may depend on the vehicle selected by the winning organization.

9. What will winners have to do to take delivery of the vehicle?

Vehicle winners must pay for vehicle registration and provide proof of insurance before vehicle delivery. Winners may also be asked to participate in a vehicle delivery ceremony that may take place at a local dealer or at the winning organization's location. Individual delivery locations will be determined at the discretion of the local dealer and winning organization.

10.Can winners add options and accessories to their vehicles prior to taking delivery?

No. In order to facilitate the vehicle ordering process, award vehicles will be of a predetermined color, spec and content level.

11.What if I don't have a Facebook account?

Applications and votes can only be submitted via Facebook. All you need is an e-mail address to get started. For more information on how to create a Facebook account visit <https://www.facebook.com/help/?page=173>.

Finalists are required to submit a multimedia profile with information about their organization and how they would use the Toyota vehicle for good. Finalists will also receive a toolkit to help spread the word about their participation in the program to activate the voting public.
