Toyota was a founding member of the Partnership for Automated Vehicle Education (PAVE) coalition to help advance customer understanding of automated technology and its benefits. Today, PAVE announced the results of a study to understand the Public Perception of Automated Vehicles. To learn more about the report click here: