

Monte Kaehr

Monte Kaehr is group vice president, Advanced Mobility Research & Development for Toyota Motor North America (TMNA). In this role, he is responsible for technical strategy and planning of advanced mobility solutions.

Previously, Kaehr served as the Toyota Sienna chief engineer, and prior to that, Toyota Camry chief engineer for the North American region.

Kaehr joined Toyota in 1992 as a design engineer in Japan and moved to Toyota's North American Research & Development division in 1998 where he progressed through a series of positions in Body Engineering and Product Development.

Kaehr has a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from Purdue University.