Toyota's first manufacturing facility in North America, TABC, Inc., has been helping to build the company's reputation for quality in everything it assembles. Today, with the help of more than 350 employees, TABC is a primary supplier of parts for Tacoma trucks and past model service parts. The plant creates stamped parts, steering columns, catalytic converters, weld sub-assemblies, sheet metal and aluminum components. TABC also assembles stamped parts and welded sub-assemblies.
