This holiday season, Toyota is inviting fans and followers to share the joy in an effort to support student scholars nationwide following the official debut of “Nora’s Joy,” one of two heartwarming Toyota national holiday ads.

Produced in both English and Spanish, “Nora’s Joy” is the story of a young woman who finds the ability to share her joy in a very magical way. Once she unleashes her emotions, we see her driving her Toyota Tacoma around town, spreading the joy with those around her in a flurry of bright lights lighting up the night sky. The CGI-developed spot was developed by Conill Advertising.
Share a digital joy jar with loved ones on Instagram through January 3.

The premiere of “Nora’s Joy” follows “Bookstore,” the other national holiday ad that Toyota debuted earlier this month (press release here).

“For more than 20 years, HSF and Toyota have come together to support students, their families and the community, helping to transform lives,” said Fidel Vargas, president & CEO, Hispanic Scholarship Fund.
